LIFE SAVING

—AND—

SWIMMING COLLAR.

By means of which any person or child can swim at once and with perfect safety and ease. It is impossible for the head to get under water with this collar, and it cannot slip down the body which is the great source of danger with the ordinary Life Preserver. Having tied the collar around the neck, the person can strike out at once into deep water.

This collar is so small and light that with the water proof pouch which contains it, the weight is but a few ounces and can conveniently be carried in the pocket. For those who can swim it is a safe-guard against cramp, and when desired, perfect rest for the limbs can be obtained.

The Patent Reflex Crate,

they cannot get a stove that will compare with the Hub. We have

within three years and we refer to them for proof that the New Hub is the easiest range to manage; the best baker, the most durable and the prettiest range in the market. To prove the durability of the Reflex grate, we will simply say that we have in three years replaced or repaired one dozen grates out of the hundreds that we have sold. During the Summer season the New Hub has been nearly made over. Every point which experience has proved to need strength, has been thoroughly strengthened, and we have to-day a range that is twenty-five per cent. ahead of any other in New England.

Compare it with anything in the city, even the latest, and decide for yourself. We refund money for every range that proves unsatisfactory after a fair trial.

The Cumberland County Agricultural Society will hold their 46th annual fair at Presumpscot Park, September 11th to 14th. All entries will close Wednesday, Sept. 5, at 11 P. M.

The Press says that Monday, a man hired a team at one of the stables in Portland to go to Deering. Instead of going to Deering, the fellow drove to the Cumberland House and sold the team to the hostler of the stable for $10. The police recovered the property.

Thursday, while John Dryden, a Portland flour dealer was in the rear of his store, his pocket-book was abstracted from his coat which was left hanging on a nail, and the $145 dollars contained in it was gone.

SEA FOAM.

MANUFACTURE OF MEERSCHAUM PIPES—A WORK REQUIRING THE ARTIST'S DEFTNESS AND SKILL.

[Chicago Tribune.]

Americans will think better of the Prince of Wales since the cable conveyed the information that he is coloring a meerschaum. Give cigarets to the young man of fashion, and cigars to the reveler and the roue, but it is the calm philosophic spirit that loves the meerschaum bowl. And it enhances the pleasure of smoking to know what patient care, what minute elaboration and artistic taste are lavished upon the fragrant pipe that warms in one's hands while it lulls dull care to rest.

To this city there is only one large establishment where meerschaum pipes are made, and the artists—for they should not be called workmen—who engage in the manufacture all hail from Vienna. Meerschaum is mined in Asiatic Turkey, although a popular superstition regards it as the crystalized foam of the sea. It is brought to this country in rough white lumps after being cleansed of earth, and hundreds of thousands of dollars' worth is imported every year. The cases are graded according to the size of the lumps, and a case containing 25 pounds sells for $120. The soft and translucent amber which forms the mouthpiece of a meerschaum, is found in the greatest abundance on the Prussian coast of the Baltic, and is believed to be a fossilized vegetable gum exuding from the trees of forests that have been buried for centuries beneath the waves.

But to return to the little room where natives of Vienna are working upon Asiatic clay and Baltic gum, it should be said that the place was small and cramped, and the artists seemed too much intent upon their labor to be disturbed by the entrance of visitors. In one corner was a case of meerschaum, all of the plastic lumps being carved and uniform, but wonderfully smooth. A piece, after being soaked, is handed to a thin, spectacled man, who handles a little, sharp, cimeter-shaped knife. It is almost like shaping a snowball, so complete is his mastery over the clay. In a few moments, out of the shapeless white mass of yielding earth comes the swelling bust and tapering stem—not of Galatea—but of a shape diviner far than the ideal of the Grecian sculptor. As yet the bowl is but rudely hollowed, and is passed to one who is working a smooth, wooden drill. Indeed, the shop is like that of a potter, so many little wheels are spinning around by the tireless movement of busy feet. The bowl is pressed upon the wooden drill, and in an instant the sides are as smooth and as delicately curved as a maiden's cheek.

The next drill is a needle of steel, and it burrows its way through the stem as quick as a flash, forming the small canal through which in future days the lazy smoke will creep before it issues from the parted lips. Then the pipe is filled, and its proportions reduced to uniformity, and it is given a bath in a pan of simmering wax. After its immersion it is again filled, this time not with a metal surface, but with bullrushes that grow near pools. The cells of these weeds make a file more delicate than science can produce, and the artisans attach to the greatest value to the plant, which to the rest of the world must appear absolutely worthless. After the second filling it is placed in the hand of a polisher [illegible] soft cloth [illegible] the pipe [illegible] the [illegible] the [illegible] the England's potato and oat crops are considerably above the average, but those of wheat and barley are below it.

Lowell's valuation is $49,885,953.50, an increase of almost three-and-a-half millions. There is no suggestion of decline in such figures.

A son of the South Sea Islander who slew the English martyr missionary, John Williams, of Erromanga, laid the first stone of the monument erected to his memory.

The Boston Herald says: "Dorsey's plan of raising credulity by indorsing himself has not produced the desired effect. There is not a pinch of proof to a ton of assertion."

Boscawen (N. H) will celebrate the 150th anniversary of its settlement on the 16th of August, next Thursday. It dates from the early years of the reign of George the Second.

Col. F. H. Forbes, in a letter to the Hingham Journal, says Col. Saltonstall "despises" Butler, that Edward Avery "hates him cordially," and that Charles Levi Woodbury "damns" him.

The Boston Journal, discussing Bayard as a presidential quantity, observes that it appears to have been quite generally forgotten that he introduced a bill which provided for the taxation of United States bonds.

The Tribune says: No wonder Perry Belmont's constituents didn't want to pay for the banquet with which Perry gave directions that he should be "surprised," etc. The man who orders the dinner usually pays for it.

The Springfield Union says: "The Republicans in Western Massachusetts are not making a great deal of noise, but they fully understand that there is to be a State election this year and they propose to do their part toward electing the tickets nominated by the State convention."

Judge Kline, Democratic candidate for Governor of Iowa, is causing his party as much trouble by indiscreet talking as Hoadly is in Iowa. In a speech last Saturday he declared himself in favor of a saloon on every hilltop, in every village, at every crossroad, "And," he added, "the more public the better!"

The Springfield Republican suggests: "The Ohio Republicans will be grateful to the liquor dealers of that State for sharpening up the issue between the two parties by the manifesto of their Toledo Convention. The liquor men do not want any regulation or any taxation, but free rum. The Liquor Convention in Ohio will apparently about finish Hoadly."

The rapid decline of cholera is explained by the fact that it is an Egyptian epidemic, and not the Asiatic type. All the Indian doctors who are now in Egypt speak of the difference between the present plague and the terrible forms of the disease with which they are familiar in India. The rapid rising of the Nile, and the energy of the Anglo-Indian doctors encourage the belief that the worst is over.

Utah's election on the 6th of August, was a dull affair, and the Mormons had every thing their own way. They bear no divided rule, and the Gentiles have about as much chance of victory as the abolitionists had here in days of yore. Only one district was in doubt in the Territory. The second of the "twin relics of barbarism," will neither die nor submit. Should the Mormons ever be put down, it will be through a very literal illustration of the putting down business, in which the work will be done by sharp and pointed weapons. Just now they are masters of the situation, as well as of their women.

Evidence multiplies that the Southern Democrats propose to demand their full share of influence in the next National Convention. The remarks of Democratic papers in that section point plainly to this conclusion. The old expression, "Give us any good man and we will support him," is not heard so frequently now as in past years. The Nashville American, for instance, says: "The time has come, in our opinion, when the Democracy of the South should not only appear in full force at the National Convention, but appear prepared to press, with due respect, the convictions of Southern Democrats as to both men and measures." The Southern Democrats evidently think that they have occupied back seats long enough and that the time has come for them to resume their control of the party.

The third-party Prohibitionists of Ohio might read to their profit the proceedings of the Liquor Dealers' Protective Association, which has just been holding a meeting at Toledo to organize the rum shops which it represents for the political canvass. All the principles which the Prohibitionists hold most dear are vigorously denounced in the Association's platform, and the victory of the Democracy in Ohio this fall is declared to be the only hope of the liquor interest of the State and Nation. Could anything prove more clearly that the Democracy is the bitter foe of temperance, and that the Republican party is its friend? And yet the Prohibition leaders are doing all they can to help the Democrats carry the State this fall. They have nominated a separate ticket, although they must realize that every vote for that ticket is practically a vote for their deadliest enemy.

SENATOR WARNER MILLER.

Senator Warner Miller, who is accompanied on his Colorado trip by his bright eldest son MAX, a boy of 15, and by his long time friend, Mr. John W. Vrooman, of Herkimer, clerk of the Senate at Albany, is expected home Aug. 10, and will visit Saratoga soon afterward, writes a correspondent from that city. His speech at the opening of the Denver exposition was pronounced masterly. One or two journals of his own state, inimical to his protection views, sit in the seat of the scorner and say "Aha! he has gone out there to start a presidential boom." I know how sternly angry he was the only time I ever heard that subject broached in his presence. He said that any such utterance was to be regarded as the work of an enemy to make a new senator ridiculous.

Mr. Miller has strong convictions on the protection of American industries; he is sincerely devoted to its consideration as the paramount issue of the hour, and his journeying this season through the southwestern states and territories, and now to Colorado and Montana, unquestionably will contribute to his fund of information on the subject for future use; but his fullest ambition is satisfied in representing his great state in the Senate, and to do this intelligently, modestly and for the greatest good of the greatest number, I know to be his "being's end and aim."

AN IMPORTANT AWARD.

Messrs. Edwin Lee Brown, of Chicago, and Abraham Firth and Mrs. William Appleton, of Boston, comprising a committee of the American Humane Association intrusted with the $5000 fund for the improvement of the condition of animals, have awarded the gold medal to the Burton stock car, the invention of a Boston man and the property of the company bearing its name. The trophy is a handsome affair, suitably inscribed, and is highly prized by the fortunate recipients. In its letter accompanying the award, the committee speaks in very flattering terms of the car in question, and, alluding to a test made under the supervision of a Massachusetts society agent, adds that "there certainly is no longer an excuse for the horrors of live stock transportation in the ordinary box cars." The fund offered by this society has long acted as a powerful stimulus to inventors, and the beneficial results have long since been manifested in numerous ingenious efforts in behalf of "our dumb animals."

THE TARIFF.

Senator Ilbar, in a talk with a correspondent of the Boston Herald (free trade) in regard to the demand for a "tariff for revenue only" says that the revenue that the Government needs will suffice for protective purposes, and will be so collected as to protect American products. Of the new Tariff Bill he said:

"About every 'job' that got into that bill was wedged into it by free-traders. I will give you some examples: There is the Russia iron. It needs no protection, for no one in this country can make it; the secret is known here, and there is but one establishment in Philadelphia which produces a miserable imitation of this Russia iron. We did not want to put any duty on it, but a prominent Democratic Senator, a profound free-trader, was a friend to this American manufacturer, and so his ears were button up close. We could do nothing with him. Again, in the matter of crockery. There is nothing to be found in this country fit for the best crockery manufacture. It is not an industry which calls for any protection. But there was a Democratic Senator who was interested in some crockery concern, and so we could not get the duty cut down. Then in the matter of rice. I understand there is a duty of 110 per cent. on that purely agricultural commodity, and yet every Southern free-trade Senator is determinedly opposed to any reduction. And so it was with other particulars." "What modifications in the existing law do you expect?" "I should be perfectly willing to leave the whole subject of the tariff revision to the legislative tariff commission, composed entirely of free traders, I am so confident that in the end they would be forced to take a position entirely agreeable to the interests of New England manufacturers."

SECRETARY FOLGER ON THE BUSINESS SITUATION.

A Minnesota special says Secretary of the Treasury Folger is at Worthington taking his vacation and looking after his land interests in Noblet county. He owns 320 acres, from which he will reap an excellent crop. He is very sociable and easily approached, and chats informally on politics and other topics of the day. Regarding the business situation Mr. Folger thinks the country is in a conservative mood and moving safely along in a course of prosperity, especially is the northwest enjoying a wonderful degree of thrift occasioned by the rapid developments of its fertile acres and the influx of well-to-do settlers, and considers the commercial and financial condition of the country, as a whole, to be satisfactory in spite of the prevalent dullness in Wall street and the flurry of failures among the shoe and leather people of New England. These latter symptoms he regards as strictly local.

President Jackson of the Eastern road has written a letter to John Savage, the engineer of the Pullman express, and to I. B. Williams, the switchman, thanking them for their prompt action in averting the accident at Beverly and stating that believing they deserve something more than thanks, he shall report the matter to the directors at their next meeting for their action. Further particulars of the affair show that the Pullman train was just about starting out, the signals being all right, when Engineer Savage saw the Rockport train approaching. He reversed his engine and backed the train, just getting off the cross track, at the same time shouting to Williams to throw the switch. Fortunately he acted promptly, and the Rockport train dashed by the Pullman, within a foot of the engine, in safety.

GEN. SHERMAN'S PARTY. Col. Bacon, of General Sherman's staff, has received a letter from General Sherman, dated at Coeur de Alene, Idaho, July 30, in which he states his purpose of leaving in a day or two for Fraser River and Vancouver's Island. He says the party will start from Coeur de Alene in ambulances, go down the Spokane to its mouth, ninety odd miles; thence to Fort Colville, another hundred miles, where they will drop their wagons and take to packs and saddle horses for 200 miles more through mountain and forest. Yellowstone Park, he says, now has wagon roads, some houses and is full of people and therefore losing its former interest. All the party, including Justice Gray, are well and hearty.

It is the opinion of the World newspaper that the time spent in investigations next winter will not be wasted even if they develop Democratic dishonesty, as "if the Democratic party should come into power it would then know the black sheep in its own party and be able to drive them from the fold." The suggestion has merit; but we don't quite make out what, in that event, is to be done with the empty fold. Perhaps rent it.—Tribune.

Comptroller Knox, who visited St. Albans last week, expresses the belief that the Vermont National Bank, which was closed by Barlow's failure, will pay its depositors in full. Bank Examiner Hendee has been appointed Receiver.

A Democratic journal speaks of "the great moral power of the known character of adamantine honesty of Samuel J. Tilden." Shades of Cronin and Pelton! Memories of Smith Wood! Translations of cipher despatches! Election frauds in New York from 1868 to 1872! What is the editor giving us?—Boston Herald.

LYMAN'S DANDELION BITTERS.

Not Only a Preventive, but Also a Sure Cure for Biliousness.

The liver is one of the most important organs of the body. If not only interferes with the separation of the refuse matter from the nourishing portion of the food, but also prevents the elimination of the bowels.

If for any reason the bile is turned into the stomach instead of being carried off by the bowels, and the whole system becomes poisoned. The result is headache, dizziness and constipation. If the cause is not removed, the trouble soon ends in life a burden. At such a time the best remedy is

THE TELEGRAPH STRIKE.

Operators Returning to Work—More Cutting of Wires—Both Sides "Confident and Determined."

NEW YORK, Aug. 11. From Supt. Trabue at Nashville the following despatch was received this morning: One striker returned at Macon, Ga., yesterday, completing the full force there. All the strikers at Savannah, Ga., 7 in number applied to return to work yesterday. We have but two vacancies and two of the applicants were accepted; leaving three first-class men and two second-class men wanting employment. Business is moving promptly to all points south. Three operators returned at Norfolk yesterday and Supt Tice, of Richmond, says in his district the strikers openly admit their defeat.

Advices received from other points seem to indicate that the men are losing courage and are willing to return to work any time At noon a despatch was received at Western Union office stating that nine first class operators returned to work in Buffalo to-day and as many more who applied were rejected. A circular was distributed through the city this evening calling on property owners to lease down all telegraph wires crossing the roofs of their houses as the companies have no legal right to place them there. The circular is signed "Citizens Committee." The Brotherhood say they had nothing to do with issuing the circular. At the Western Union office to-night everything is said to be working satisfactorily.

OCEAN GROVE, Aug. 11. At the National Education Assembly this morning the American Indian problem was discussed. Herbert Welsh, of Philadelphia, addressed the meeting. He has visited the Cheyenne river, Lower Brule, Crow Creek, Santee, Yanktown, Rosebud and Pine Ridge agencies and found admirable schools—Episcopal, under Bishop Hart, and Congregational, and abundant evidence that the Indians are capable of occupying honorable positions in our civilization. A. S. Quinton, president of the Woman's National Indian Association, read an address, in which she said the association had done much toward awaking the public sentiment in behalf of the Indians, but much in the shape of mission work among Indians, in securing good Indian agents and money for schools from the general government and reform in our Indian policy, remains to be done. J. H. Haworth, superintendent of the U. S. Indian schools, read a paper on the practical results of Indian education. A letter was read from Secretary Teller, urging the assembly to aid in influencing Congress to make liberal appropriations for the education of the Indian children.

THE CENSUS BUREAU.

Clerks Furloughed on Account of Lack of Funds.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 11. Owing to a want of funds it has been found necessary to furlough a large number of the force employed in the Census Bureau. The Superintendent decided that the furloughs should be made by lot. This was done in the interest of fair play, so that all the clerks should stand on exactly the same looting. The plan agreed on met with the approval of the persons interested. The clerks were all considered equally competent and deserving, and this plan was determined on as being the fairest way of deciding which should go first.

Accordingly the names of all the employes were written on slips of paper which slips were placed in a small box and shaken up to be drawn as occasion required. Those first drawn are to be furloughed for two months, at the expiration of which time they will return to their duties and an equal number of others will be furloughed for a like period and with the same prospect of return So far about about 45 clerks have been furloughed in this way. More will be furloughed from time to time.

The number of employes now on the roll is 170. It is proposed to reduce this number about one-half, which, it is thought, will be sufficient to keep up the work of the bureau, now drawing to a close. It has also been decided that these furloughed clerks can be transferred to any other bureau of the Interior Department, where additional force may be required.

This was the result of conferences between Secretary Teller and other members of the Cabinet who concluded that there was nothing in the spirit or letter of the Civil Service law to prevent the transfer of clerks from one bureau to another whenever it might be deemed advisable. Messrs. Gregory and Sherman, of the Civil Service Commission, also coincided with this interpretation of law. Eaton was not in the city at the time the question was under consideration.

Mr. Allen formerly lived in Bangor and is a son of our well known florist, Mr. Thomas Allen.

GLASS BALL SHOOT. Much interest is manifested in the glass ball shoot which takes place to-morrow on the grounds of the Norombega Sportsmen's Club, on Broadway. York, it will be remembered, held the State championship badge, but was challenged by Allen, and at the contest several weeks since the latter came off victorious. Shortly afterwards Allen was challenged by Peavey and the shoot which takes place to-morrow is to settle this match. There will, doubtless, be a large audience.

NOT THE MAN. Last week we published the suggestion that the unknown man discovered drowned down river might be one Jones Ware who was known to have marks similar to those on the body found. A note from Postmaster G. H. Haskell, of Lee, informs us that Ware is stopping in that town and is alive and well. The India ink marks described are carried by quite a number and said Ware has put similar designs on six persons this summer where he has been cooking for crews in the woods.

I. O. O. F. At a regular meeting of Norombega Lodge, No. 28, I. O. of G. T., held Thursday evening, Aug. 9th, the following officers were installed by Lodge Deputy Mrs. M. C. Crossman: W. H. Toward, W. C. T., Carrie Spencer, W. V. T., W. H. H. Perkins, W. R. G.; Allan Crabtree, W. A. S., James H. Duren, W. F. S.; Thomas Hanover, W. T; Mrs. H. W. Cushman, W. C.; Jabez C. Bradbury, W. REFORM CLUB MEETING. The exercises at the Reform Club public meeting, which was held at City Hall, yesterday, did not draw together the usual large audience, owing to so many of our citizens being absent from the city and also to the heat of the day. President Ayer occupied his chair and was happy in his opening remarks Miss Annie D. Page read the Scripture lesson and ex-Chaplain Henry offered prayer After brief remarks had been made by Secretary Stevens and Vice President Hanover, Dr. Weed, president of the Newport Club, John J. Richardson and John Benson, Esq., of the same club, addressed the meeting in efforts full of power. Mrs Crossman also gave cheerful testimony in favor of the ennobling work.

DAVENPORT SQUARE. Under the charge of the well known landscape gardener, Mr. F. H. Duffy, the plot of land on the corner of Main and Cedar streets and extending as far back as First street, is undergoing a remarkable transformation. The ground has been ploughed up and smoothed off until it is perfectly level. Along the side fronting on Cedar street a graceful terrace has been built and on the end towards First street two additional terraces have been constructed, making four on that side. These terraces are to be laid with nice sods and in the centre of the grounds is to be placed a handsome fountain, the money for which has been raised by private subscription. Pleasant walks of concrete are to be constructed and the remainder of the level plot will be sowed to grass. The park will be enclosed with a barbed wire fence with an entrance leading from Main street. These improvements will greatly beautify that portion of the city.

ELECTION OF A Y. M. C. A. PRESIDENT. The members of the Young Men's Christian Association are requested to attend a meeting to be held in Association Hall on Tuesday evening next, 14th inst., to elect a successor to Mr. Geo. W. E. Barrows, who resigned his position as president at a former meeting, owing to poor health and at the request of his physician. Mr. Barrows has faithfully served in church and association work for years, but at the present has been relieved from all outside duties preparatory to his taking an extended rest from business cares, which he has justly earned and is in need of. The work and interests of the association are in a first class condition, the preparations for the spiritual, educational, social and physical features of the work for the fall and winter months are almost completed. The election of a president over this branch of a vast and growing work is an important matter and one in which every member takes an active interest. The election will be preceded by a devotional meeting, commencing at eight o'clock sharp. The members of the association are requested to be present at this important meeting.

ALMOST A TRAGEDY. Albert Marlin, of colored persuasion, was arrested Saturday evening and placed in the station house. Shortly before 10 o'clock that evening he discharged a revolver at William Raines, and the bullet passed through the latter's coat and vest, his escape if not death, being miraculous. The particulars, as near as can be understood, are these. Marlin had been drinking and was evidently under the influence of considerable liquor. He drew his revolver several times during the evening and, according to report, threatened to shoot more than one person. On May street he accosted a man and wanted to fight him. Raines, who is a brakeman on the Stillwater freight, was at his boarding house waiting for the time of the departure of the Flying Yankee, on which he was going up river that evening. Observing that Marlin and the other men were about to have an altercation directly in front of his boarding place he went out and getting between them compelled them to allay their passions. Marlin then cocked his revolver and fired as chronicled above. Marlin was yesterday afternoon, given his freedom on responsible citizens becoming surety for his presence to-morrow, when it is expected the case will come up for trial.

A FISHERMAN'S SEVERE SUFFERING. A sailor has been forwarded from St. John by the American consul there, to his home at Gloucester, Mass. While on the passage he told the following story: It seems the sailor with his chum were off the Banks in their dory setting trawls. The fog shut down on them and they were unable to find their vessel. The second day a storm came on and it was only by a miracle they managed to keep from capsizing. The storm abated the second day, and then began their sufferings. They had not a drop of water or bit of bread. The fog was continually lifting and shutting down. At times they would see vessels and hail them and then the fog would close around them, dispelling all hope of rescue. The desire for water amounted to fearful torture and but probable the dampness that saturated their clothes was all that kept them alive. As it was the sailor's comrade became delirious. On the fifth day a vessel managed to rescue them and carried them into St. John.

AMUSEMENTS.

Ranch 10 To-Night.

The Pittsburgh Courier, speaking of "Ranch 10," Mr. Meredith's new play, to be produced at the Opera House to-night, says:

That Ranch Ten will be a successful play, in a pecuniary sense, will not be questioned by any one who witnessed it as presented at the Opera House last evening. It belongs to the realistic class of plays. Indeed, the realism is of the most intense nature The flavor of the border pervades it from first to last. It is novel, possesses sufficient humor to relieve the somber passages, and is as full of incident as an egg of meat. Mr. Meredith in dual characters sustained difficult roles to the satisfaction of a large audience. The burning of the Ranch was one of the most effective scenes ever presented on the stage.

There has been a good sale and the attendance will doubtless be large. Additional interest will attach to the performance from the fact that it opens the dramatic season of '83-84; and that during the summer various improvements have been inaugurated at the House.

Notes.

Mr. J. Slater Smith, Manager of "Ranch 10," is stopping at the Penobscot, Exchange.

A special train will be run from Oldtown to-morrow evening to "Ranch 10."

Excursions.

The Bangor & Bar Harbor and Ross & Howell boats on Saturday afternoon took large numbers of Bangor people to Fort Point, Castine, Islesboro and Northport.

The steamer Ralph Ross yesterday took a numerous excursion party down the bay returning in the evening.

The steamer Katahdin a few minutes past five yesterday afternoon started down river for Rockland from whence she will take a party of excursionists from over the Knox & Lincoln line to Camden, Northport, Belfast and Fort Point. She will return to Bangor on Tuesday morning and make her regular trip to Boston that day. Several bands will accompany the excursionists and a large representation will come from as distant a point as Bath.

The annual excursion of the Jamesons Guards will occur to-morrow and arrangements have been perfected for a big time. The Bangor Band will turn out in the parade prior to the starting of the boats and will also accompany the excursionists. A series of very interesting sports have been planned to take place at Fort Point and a fine entertainment is to be anticipated The programme for the day is an attractive one.

The Shaw Failure.

A meeting of the creditors of F. Shaw & Bros. has been called to be held in Boston on Wednesday, Aug. 15th at 2 30 P. M. at the rooms of the New England Shoe and Leather Association.

In conversation with one of the members of the firm of F Shaw & Bros., that gentleman said that it was the intention of F Shaw & Bros., at the coming meeting of their creditros, to submit their statement to the meeting unattended with any "blarney." In this manner the minds of the creditors will remain unbiased, and any opinion they may render is certain to be one perfectly agreeable to them and in consequence agreeable to F. Shaw & Bros.

Referring to the failure of Shaw Bros. the Waterloo (P. Q.) Advertiser says. It is thought that the failure will not affect Shaw Bros. & Cassels, of Montreal, and the Canadian tanneries. Some time ago the Montreal firm purchased the Canadian tanneries from the Boston firm and have been operating them since. Mr. Spencer Shaw, of the firm of S. & E. G. Shaw & Co., of Waterloo, and uncle of Shaw Bros. says: "I don't think the failure will seriously affect us of the Montreal firm of Shaw Bros. & Cassels. The leather market has been dull for some months, and our tanneries and warehouses are full of leather. We had concluded some time ago to shut down our tanneries here, at Warden and at Roxton Falls till the cold weather. In the meantime we have been merely working up the stock in process of tanning. Our closing down has no reference to the troubles of the Boston firm, and I believe the people may entertain no fears that tanning in this section of the country will be any more interfered with than if the failure had not taken place."

CANNING SWEET CORN IN MARYLAND.

A correspondent of the Baltimore Sun writes to that paper under date of Bel Air, Md., July 10th. In agriculture and kindred matters Harford has made more improvements in the last twenty years than any county in the State. More corn is produced than in any other county, and the canning interest is greater than in any county in the United States or in the world. It is claimed by some that the pack of the county last year was worth $7,000,000, but this is an exaggeration, the pack was probably worth something more than half that amount. There are between 400 and 500 canning establishments, and additional ones are being established. Besides the labor furnished by county residents, from 10,000 to 15,000 hands are brought from distant points, annually, to work in the factories in the busy season. Mr. Geo. W. Baker was one of the pioneers in the canning business. It is said that he commenced canning operations on an ordinary stove, and finding it very profitable, increased his facilities from time to time. This season he has over 1,000 acres in sugar corn alone. Farmers who could not get along at anything, some years since, went into canning, and in a short time were buying farms. The impression is now that only big farmers can carry on the business successfully, so much have the profits been reduced by competition. This however, has been said annually for several years, and yet all engaged in the industry seem to thrive. Men with farms worth $1 500 have not hesitated to engage in canning, and purchase an outfit costing about $15,000. Heretofore all have been able to get all they wanted on credit, and so far there has been but one failure and that, it is said, through extravagance. This year, however, the can-makers and others are requiring collateral security for goods advanced.

THE DAMARISCOTTA SHELL BEAPS

On Friday week, in company with Prof Edward S Morse, we visited the famous oyster shell heaps at Damariscotta. We found them appearance much changed from what it was when we first visited them in 1857. Then, on the west side of the river a bank rose almost perpendicularly to a height of nearly two or five feet, a compact wall of oyster shells, clog shell upon shell, very little broken or comminuted. Now the wall has been dug away, until it has receded and the great forest trees growing on its summit incline outward at an angle of forty-five degrees. The shells have been very much broken up, except where they lie in a compact mass far under the roots of the overhanging trees. The shells have been much used for the manufacture of lime but that is now abandoned. There are yet immense quantities of them. Great forest trees are growing on the summits of the mounds, the roots extending down through the shells. Wandering through the woods on the top of the bank, we found a circular circle or amphitheater, one hundred and fifty feet in diameter surrounded by mounds of oyster shells, grassed over, except where excavations had been and there made.

Centuries ago the Indians must have lived and feasted in this beautiful spot. These oysters were of very large size, and of elongated form. We found one shell which measured a foot in length. The oyster it contained might have served as a meal for a family. The first mention of these shell heaps is found in documents bearing date of 1629, in which the locality is spoken of as "Oyster Shell Neck." A little while ago forty years ago the Indians were in the habit of yearly visiting the shell heaps which they claimed as an inheritance from their ancestors. The destruction of the oyster bed is generally attributed to the introduction of the saw mills by the white man, the saw dust being fatal to the mollusks, but some now hold that the star fishes, which abound here, and are found to prey so destructively on the oyster beds of to-day, in other localities, are responsible for their disappearance. Prof. Jackson estimated that one of the great heaps contained 44 000,000 cubic feet of shells, and that it would make 10 000 000 casks of lime.

Prof Morse's object in visiting the heaps was to obtain clam shells from among them. He is measuring the clam shells of all the world, both ancient and modern comparing them as to form and size, with a view of ascertaining what changes have taken place in them since the earliest times accessible. It being found that changes have taken place, the question then arises what has caused them—changes of temperature, of salt to fresh water, or otherwise? The conclusion of the whole matter will be to establish or disprove the theory of Darwin that given unlimited time, there will always be development or change of form. Prof Morse finds that changes have occurred, that ancient shells being generally shorter and thicker than those of to-day. He chose clam rather than oyster shells for this test, because the latter, growing in a crowded condition, and changing their form and size according to circumstances, are apt to be relied upon for uniformity; while the former growing free and at large are of nearly uniform size.

In hunting for clam shells to-day, to be compared with those found in the heaps, he astonished a clam digger by offering him pay for shells recovered from a barnyard, where the fowl had very much befouled them. In the oyster shell heap few clam shells are found, but he was fortunate enough to come upon quite a deposit of them near the base of the mound. It looked as if some Indian had dug a mess of clams and thrown the shells there before the heap of oyster shells above them was formed. The oyster shells found near them were small. Hence he concluded that the Indians who visited this spot were content with clams, and the small oysters to be found between high and low water mark. But as, in process of time, they devised means of dredging the deeper water, and obtaining the large oysters which grew there, they discarded the clams and smaller oysters, and feasted only on the large bivalves whose shells are now found above them. It was curious to observe that the only instances in which the two shells of an oyster were found together were when they were filled with a greyish mud, showing that these were the shells of dead oysters filled with the mud of the flats, which the Indians discarded without opening them.—Transcript.

SKIN HUMORS

Wonderful Cure of a Lad 12 years old, who for 3 years, from the top of his head to his ankles, was One Mass of Scabs.

My son had twelve years of age, was afflicted with the worst form of Eczema for a period of eight years. So virulent was it that from the top of his head to within a few inches of his ankles he was one mass of scabs, which refused to yield to any treatment that was attempted. Every remedy that was suggested by friends or physicians was tried in vain. Allopathy, homœopathy, herbs, roots, sea water baths, blistered paint ices, soaps, ointments, and in short everything that could be done to eradicate the disorder seemed only to aggravate it, and the child's life became a burden to him, and the expense of the various experiments a constant drain upon our resources.

My wife, reading the advertisement of the CUTICURA REMEDIES in one of the daily papers, resolved to make one more attempt at a cure. (The disease was now encroaching upon his face, and seemed incurable.) I gave a reluctant consent to her last plan, and in less than one week from the time we sent to Dr. HEBRA'S SKIN HOSPITAL, of New York, who made a most thorough examination of the case, and promised a cure without the least hesitation by the use of your CUTICURA REMEDIES. Within a week there was a marked change, the raw and angry sores began to grow pale and along the outer edges scaled off, and in less time were entirely healed, the only vestige is one small spot upon the forearm, scarcely visible and fast disappearing.

This after eight years of expense and anxiety, we have the intense satisfaction of seeing the child's skin as fair and smooth as it was before the dreadful cutaneous disorder attacked him.

Sincerely yours,
CHAS EAYRE HINKLE.

HAIR RENEWER

Was the first preparation perfectly adapted to restore the color of the hair, and the first successful effort to prevent baldness. It never fails to restore gray hair to its natural color, promotes a luxuriant growth, and imparts that vivacity, softness and beauty so much admired by everybody. Its introduction into all parts of the civilized world has been attended with unparalleled success, and it has given perfect satisfaction in every instance. Its reputation for restoring hair, after the ravages of fevers, sickness, or from scrofulous humors, is unequaled by any preparation in the known world. Its power to prevent the hair falling off, or to restore it on bald heads, where the glands are not entirely destroyed, is wonderful, and in many cases has proved entirely successful. Its use for a short time of HALL'S HAIR RENEWER will surely restore the hair to a healthy action, and prevent its falling off. Nothing can be found in the market that will restore gray hair to its original color, except this. Sulphur, lead, nitrate of silver, and all dyes, stain the hair and scalp, and are liable to injure the health. The RENEWER contains neither of these, nor any other injurious ingredient. It is the cheapest hair dressing in use, as it requires but little to keep the hair in order. Ladies, try it. Gentlemen, try it. Children, try it. Sold by all druggists, and dealers in medicines everywhere.

"You claim too much for SAMARITAN NERVINE," says a skeptic "How can one medicine be a specific for Epilepsy, Dyspepsia, Alcoholism, Opium Eater, Rheumatism, complaints?" Oranges and Florida.

Better than Breezes and Blossoms —Under a New Flag.

Even the balmy air and orange groves of Florida fail to keep its people full of happiness and comfort. Art must help nature everywhere—in the tropics as among the pines of the North. "And, chief among the blessings which are adapted to all zones," writes Dr J. G. Wallace, of Fort Dade, Fla., "is PARKER'S TONIC. It seems to have the world for a field, and most of the current diseases yield to its action. I have used it in the case of a de icate and dyspeptic young lady, with the most gratifying results. It seemed to accomplish with ease what the usual prescriptions and treatment for that miserable malady failed wholly to bring about. I am also glad to state that the Tonic has proved very reliable in the case of a troublesome atonic condition of the stomach of long standing. It is the ideal purifier and invigorant."

Messrs. Hiscox & Co call especial attention to the fact that after April 16, 1883, the name and style of this preparation will be simply "Parker's Ginger Tonic." The word "Ginger" is dropped, for the reason that unprincipled dealers are constantly deceiving their patrons by substituting inferior preparations under the name of Ginger, and as Ginger is an unimportant and subordinate ingredient in our Tonic, we are sure that our friends will agree with us as to the propriety of the change. There will be no change, however, in the preparation itself, and all bottles remaining in the hands of dealers, wrapped under the name of "PARKER'S GINGER TONIC," contain the genuine article, one of the signature of HISCOX & Co. is at the bottom of outside wrapper.
